“Called the ‘Federal Funding Accountability for Sexual Harassers Act,’ the bill requires that universities report any violations of gender discrimination in the past 10 years to federal agencies within one month of an investigation ending.

“The bill requires the federal agencies to take sexual harassment findings into consideration when doling out grants.”
Great tips on how to talk about your work in 2 minutes or less.

Going Up: The Elevator Speech | Tomorrow's Professor Postings

Tomorrow's ResearchMessage Number: 1510The key here is that speaking well in these situations is something that can often take a lot of practice, even for those who naturally have the gift of gab. These tips will show you how to practice these kinds of speeches so that you can be ready when the situ...

TOMPROF.STANFORD.EDU
Plenary session:

Geoscience Career Awareness and Professional Development
“Whereas about 65% of US PhD-holders continue into a postdoc, only 15–20% of those move into tenure-track academic posts.”

"Since receiving my PhD in 2012, I left Chicago and moved to Boston for a post-doc, then in 2015 I left Boston for a second post-doc in Indiana. In a year or two, I will move again for a faculty job, and that's if I'm lucky. Imagine trying to build a life like that."

William Kennel, postdoc
Ideas:
- Have every speaker, teacher, and mentor talk about their own career path
- Include variants on your panels
8:30 - 9:30 am - Geoscience career awareness and professional development

Status of the geoscience workforce
Carolyn Wilson (AGI) (remote speaker)

Adopting the EPA-E Geoscience Workforce Model to an REU Program
Reggie Blake (CUNY)

Opportunities for students at AGU
Pranoti Asher, AGU